Haw the Late Danlel S. Dickinson Dealined it in 1852 When He Was Sure of it

New York Sun-

While a group of lawyers in the court-house on Saturday tast was discussing the subject of declination of office and the so-called declination of Mr. Tilden, ex-United States District Attorney Samuel G. Courtney joined the group. One of the lawyers requested him to relate the clromstanges which ted to the feality dignified the climation by his tather-in-law, ex-United States Seintor Daulel S. Dickluscu, of the mominetion to the freshlency in the Democratic Convention of 1852. "That was probably," began Mr. Courtiey, "one of the most dramatle seems ever whithe premiums.

Those who have already paid for the most dramatic scenes ever with the paper can get tickets by showing messed in a publical convention, when Mr. Dickinson felt bound to decline a nomination which et that time was an equiquent to an election. In this State during that year the party was divided as it has been recently. The State delegatee requesenting both factions. A unjoilty of them were in favor of the nomination of Gov. Marcy, and the minority were in favor of any one to beet. Marcy. At the meeting of the delegation for consultation, Gov. Savnour, proposed sultation, Gov. The Story of a Tramp.

Yesterday Mr. Rebert Preston sud wife, a couple who were the pily min-ed a few days ago, arrived in this city enroute for Texas. , Tho story of their marriage is rather a romantic one' not that it abounds in hair breath escapes or of blood in larger small quantities lat that—well, that is romantic.

About four years ago Miss Emma Roland, of Galveston, visited an anot in Warren county, Kentucky. It was nnumer, the season was, aibl iche evening the girl sat in the yard, hall reading, half regarding the enormous boun-hle-bee buzzing armud. A Warren conety bumble-bee will attract attention anywhore. He enn make you think that he is rangling himself in your hair, and hoking around you sea him ten feet away clinging to a this-tic-bloom. That's enough about the bee. A foolstep didn't arouse the young lady. It was a voice that sain: "Oan I get a drink of water?" Two arms and a chin of a tramp leeded on the fence. The was dressed in the tramp's garb, a wardrube at once so describable and indescribable. "I say ean I get some water?"

"Yes, " said the girl. "Must I go around to the gate of climb over the frace?" "Both: if yun chokee." "That't the way talke to hear peo-
